

About the Speakers – Scott Stoner and Denise Hackert-Stoner of Naturelogues

The award-winning nature photography of Scott Stoner and Denise Hackert-Stoner of Naturelogues has been exhibited in galleries across New York's Capital Region, including solo exhibits at the William K Sanford Library in Colonie, NY and inclusion in the 42nd Annual Photography Regional Select Exhibit at the Albany Center Gallery. Their work has appeared in numerous publications including Birder's World, National Wildlife, New York State Conservationist, the Albany Times Union, and the books, "New York Wildlife Viewing Guide," "In Praise of Poison Ivy" by Anita Sanchez, and "Birding the Hudson Valley" by Kathryn J. Schneider. Scott and Denise's bird photos have been featured on several covers of The Kingbird, the journal of the New York State Ornithological Association.

They provided much of the photography for the new visitor center at the Five Rivers Environmental Education Center in Delmar, NY, and serve as longtime judges for the Albany Pine Bush's annual photo contest.

Denise and Scott are avid birders as well as photographers, each having served as officers, field trip leaders, and directors for the Hudson-Mohawk Bird Club.

Scott is retired after a 31-year career with the NYS Department of Environmental Conservation, and is a longtime volunteer at Five Rivers. Denise is an ordained deacon in the Association of Roman Catholic Women Priests.

Denise and Scott offer nature photography workshops and a variety of natural history slide programs for adults and children to interested organizations, as well as sales of their nature photography and note cards. To see more of their work, please visit them at www.naturelogues.com or look for Naturelogues on Facebook, or contact them at scottjstoner@aol.com.